

Central Divide Region Overview and FAQ

The Central Divide office is based in Helena, MT. This office serves the greatest geographic portion of Montana - from the craggy crest of the Rocky Mountain Front at the edge of the vast Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex, to the far reaches of the windswept Northern Great Plains, even reaching into the badlands of North Dakota. Crews serving in this location get a taste of the wild openness of this iconic landscape, and engage in a mix of conservation projects as wide and diverse as the landscape. Helena is not only the state capitol, but also boasts almost 75 miles of local hiking and biking trails right from downtown!
